THE STORM CONTINUES. A Union Pacific Train Finally Pushes

Through to Tacoma TACOMA. WASH., Jan. 23.—The first train in ten days over the Union Pacific railroad arrived here yesterday morning. Passengers report a snow blockade near Baker City, Ore., where eight passenger trains were snowed in, the first one having been caught Sunday a week ago. The passengers report a terrible experience, three persons having died during the blockade, and a number of women and children being taken sick and receiving no other attention than that extended by their fellow passengers. A second train, bringing a large quantity of delayed mail, arrived last TRUCKEE, CAL., Jan. 23 .- The storm commenced again yesterday morning. The wind blew a gale all day. At Summit and Cisco the snow fall is reported the heaviest of any day since it began. It was snowing and blowing hard on the mountains last night. The snow-plow train will be kept running all night from summit to the tunnel 13 to prevent the blowing of the road as much as posssible.

Beowawa, Nev., Jan 23.—The high winds prevailing here are causing the snow to drift badly and filling up the roads as soon as they are opened for travel. Last night the mercury registered 30 degrees below zero. A man named Stewart and his teamster got lost near Greenup in the storm Tuesday night, and, with twenty mule teams, wandered around in the stormall night. When daylight came they were within a mile of their home, but almost CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Dispatches from many points in Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois report that the mercury yesterday reached the lowest point so far this winter, ranging in different ections from 10 to 36 below zero, the latter temperature being recorded at Black River Fails, Wis., yesterday morning. Last evening the weather moderated and a heavy snow has fallen over a large area.

GALLUP, N.M., Jan. 23.-Nellie Bly passed here last night on a special train running at the rate of over fifty miles an hour. Three miles east of this place the track repairers were replacing the stringers on the bridge over a deep canyon. The rails were in place, but only held up by jack screws. The workmen heard the special coming and tried to flag it, but they were too late. The engine and car went thundering over the ravine and passed over safely. The escape is a miraculous one, and section men who witnessed the train flash past on its straw-like structure regard the escape as one of the most marvelous in railway history. PADUCAH ISLAND.

IS THE POPE DEAD?

No News Yet Received in New York to Confirm the Rumor.

New York, Jan. 23,-At the house of the rector of the cathedral it was learned this the death of the pope, a rumor of which was cabled to this country last night. In the absence of Archbishop Corrigan Mgr. Preston, vicar holiness was not credited. Rome, Jan. 23.—The rumor widely current yesterday that the pope had suddenly died proves to have been entirely unfounded. His health is admirable and at the very time the rumor was gaining strength in passing from mouth to mouth through the city his holiness was giving a special audience to a number of prominent prelates. London, Jan. 23.—Cardinal Manning denies the rumor of the pope's death.

THE SOCIAL WORLD. Reception at the Mexican Legation Mrs. Bryan's Tea-Personals.

The Mexican legation was ablaze with lights ast night, which shed a soft radiance upon a fairy scene within its walls. The occasion was the reception tendered by the Mexican minister and Mrs. Romero to the delegates to the Pan-American congress. Three floors of the splendid mansion were given up to a large and brilliant company. The rooms were decorated with tall paims and ferns. The newel rail from the second floor down to the basement floor was entwined with southern arbutus vines, and on the newel post in the main hall was a great azalea tree full of white blossoms. The doors and mirrors of the ball room were curtained with asparagus vines and the mantels were filled with living green. In the grate was an especially fine azalea tree full of red blossoms. The mantels in the drawing room and the dinmantels in the drawing room and the dinand the sideboard was one mass of ferns of many-shaped leaves. Flags in the South American colors and bearing the devices of Mexico draped doors, mirrors and corners. Below stairs, in the billiard room, a sumptuous champagne supper with terrapin, oysters, salads, croquettes and confectionery was served. All the arrangements for entering the dressing rooms and proceeding to the drawing rooms and for the serving of the supper were perfect. The music in the ball room began at 9 o'clock and dancing continued throughout the evening until 2 o'clock. The guests began to arrive early, and at 10 o'clock the rooms were fairly thronged. After that the supper room was opened and the pressure was re-Minister Romero and Mrs. Romero stood within the first drawing room door to receive their guests. Mrs. Romero was attired in a beau-tiful Paris gown of shell pink satin, brocaded in delicate silver and green sprays. The front was embroidered in a pattern of fern fronds with silver and green beads, and the full princesse train was brocaded. The bodice had a Medici collar at the back and the round opening able china wedding reception at their home on Q street northwest on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Beall will be at home Monday from 4 to 8 at "Montrose." Georgacollar at the back and the round opening in front was edged with old point lace. The elbow sleeves were edged with lace and there were puffs on the high shoulders. She wore pearls about her throat, diamonds in her ears and a diamond star in her dark hair. The ladies present were all in rich and elegant toilets, and nothing could exceed the dazzling splendor of the scene when the reception was at its height. The delegates and special officers of the conference were all present and the diplomatic corps resident was fully represented. Eight hundred invitations had been issued, and it is possible that less than a score of persons sent regrets. Among those present were Mr. Justice Blatchford, Mrs. Blatchford, Mrs. B. C. The governors of the Washington assemblies gave their second ball last evening at the Rifles armory hall, which was profusely decked with green, masses of sweet-smelling southern pine being most effectively employed. Ninety couples danced the german, which was led by Mr. E. L. McCauley. The favors consisted of bouquets of roses and magnificent baskets of flowers. A number of guests were present from New York city and Phliadelphia. Mrs. Fuller, wife of the Chief Justice, received the company. The german was considered one of the most brilliant affairs of the season, and the governors of the association are already racking their brains over the elegant details that are to distinguish their next effort. Mrs. Bryan gave a most delightful tea in her charming home yesterday from 3 to 6 o'clock. The dainty rooms were warm with soft lights and the guests moved about the cheery spaces forgetful of the wintry blast that blew outside. PROTECTION FOR FARMERS. Grangers Before the Ways and Means

Committee Today. A WORTHY MASTER OF THE NATIONAL GRANGE SUBMITS A LIST OF DUTIES HE WANTS IMPOSED ON FARM PRODUCTS-HIS OPINION OF THE MILLS

J. H. Brigham of Delta, Ohio, a worthy master of the National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, appeared before the ways and means committee this morning. He stated that the organization which he represented was composed of men of every shade of political belief. They differed on the question of protection and free trade, but they were substantially agreed that whatever policy might be adopted for other industries and interests should be applied to agriculture. If the manufacturers were to be protected the farmers should also be protected. Whatever protection could be accorded to agriculture ought to be given. He asked for the imposition of the following duties on farm products: Barley, 25 cents a bushel; barley malt, 35 cents a bushel; beans, 50 cents a bushel; peas, 25 cents a bushel; hops, 12 cents a bushel; potatoes, 25 cents a bushel; hay, $4 a ton; hides, 10 per cent advalorem; eggs, 5 cents a dozen; apples, 25 cents a bushel. He thought that adequate protection should also be given to raw silk and five animals, but could not give the exact duty that should be imposed.

THE POSITION OF THE GRANGE. In answer to a question by Mr. Breckinridge, Mr. Brigham said that the position of the grange was that if the policy of the government was to be protection it ought to be accorded to all. He believed that the farmer derived some indirect benefit from the protective system. A majority of the members of the grange were in favor of free sugar and the granting of a bounty; but they did not desire a bounty upon products which could be raised in sufficient quantities to supply the demand of the country. He did not think that free wool would benefit the farmer.

THE MILLS BILL. Mr. Gear inquired whether the passage of the mills bill would not have been a serious blow to the farmers.

Mr. Brigham replied that many of the farmers felt that it would have been, though some did not. A good many of the farmers felt that in the drafting of that bill the farmer had been discriminated against.

John Trimble of the District of Columbia. worthy secretary of the same organization, was present at the hearing, but did not address the Undertaker John McCarthy of Syracuse. N.Y., who traveled out to Samoa and brought home the body of Chief Engineer Hall, who was drowned in the great hurricane of last spring, is on the war path, seeking the scalp of navy. He appeared at department yesterday and preferred verbal charges against an officer of the U.S.S Adams, whose name he did not know, and by whom, he alleged, he had been impolitely and rudely treated during his stay in the Samoan Islands. The Secretary not being at the department the undertaker was referred to Commodore Ramsay, chief of the bureau of navivation, who heard his story. Mr. McCarthy produced A LETTER WRITTEN BY COMMODORE WALKER, as acting secretary, last August, directing all naval officers in Samoan waters to give the undertaker all the aid they could in the disinterment of Hall's body and its shipment home. This document, Mr. McCarthy claimed, was an order to the officers which was an order to the officers which had been grossly disobeyed by the then com-mander of the Adams, who was quite likely the executive officer, as the ship's commander was ill at the time. This officer he charged with improper conduct and disobedience of orders. THE CORPSE FELL INTO THE SEA. He had been treated, he said, with the greatest indifference, transferred from vessel to vessel and finally, in shifting the casket containing the remains from a man-of-war to a native vessel, it was carelessly let fall into the sea. It was recovered, however, and after great expense, trouble and delay the under-taker managed to reach the mail steamer and

Mr. McCarthy's statement concerning his treatment, which he repeated to a STAR reporter, were very vague and indefinite, and when they were made to Commodore Ramsay that officer told him that the charges and accompanying statements relating to them should be put in writing before they could be considered. The undertaker left the document on which he based his complaints at the depart-

A MATTER OF SIX HUNDRED VOTES. When the commodore told him that he would have to send over to the Adams and get the statements of the other side Mr. McCarthy grew rather wroth and said that if he did not get some sort of satisfaction the case would become one of political importance, as he controlled fully 600 votes at his home.

The main point in his allegations was that the letter from from Commodore Walker was equivalent to an order which gave him virtual command of any vessel which he might need to aid him in getting the body home. It was nec-essary, he said, for him to land on a certain isand, but the commander of the Adams refused to change the course of his ship. It is the opinion of the department officials that this letter had no such value.

HE REAPPEARS IN COMPANY WITH TWO CON-GRESSMEN. This morning the undertaker reappeared at the department in company with Congressmen
